

Mains Desoldering Tool

This mains operated economic de soldering tool can used for removing lidded component from single side PCB it is very easy to use .With this easily operated tool you can de solder a component with single hand.

While de-soldering press the ball and place the de-soldering tip against the solder joint you wish to remove. When the solder melts release the pressure on the ball and solder gets suck.

